Artwork Format Specifications

If you choose not to have us create your artwork, you may send us color-separated, camera-ready art OR any of the following digital formats:

FreeHand MX or lower
Adobe Illustrator CS2 or lower
Adobe PhotoShop CS2 or lower

QuarkXpress 6.5 or lower
Adobe InDesign CS2 or lower
CorelDraw 12 or lower

- We prefer Macintosh applications but can accept the above programs as PC based files.
- If supplying CorelDraw files, we prefer you export them as Illustrator files.
- Word processing (i.e. MicroSoft Word, Word Perfect, etc), spreadsheet (i.e. MicroSoft Excel) and presentation programs (i.e. PowerPoint) are not graphics programs. While we can occasionally extract low-resolution artwork from these programs, it is definitely not the preferred method for generating quality artwork.
- Include all fonts used in the document. Most art programs will allow you to convert the type to art. Keep in mind that you may convert the type to art and avoid having to send us your fonts; however, if we need to make an edit, we will still have to have the font or make a substitution.
- Include a directory of the disk contents as well as a hard copy of the art.
- 72 dpi website images are not considered workable art.
- Images or artwork placed in your document should either be saved as a TIF or EPS format. Image files should not be embedded. Scan all artwork at a minimum of 300 dpi at actual size; we suggest using 1,200 dpi for the best clarity for type, and saving the files as a bitmap file. JPG format typically does not contain the resolution required to provide you with a quality print job.
- When using applications such as PhotoShop, artwork should be created using spot colors and not CMYK or RGB. If artwork is submitted using CMYK or RGB, our art department will generally have to recreate the artwork at your expense.

SEND US YOUR FILES VIA EMAIL!

- When emailing us your files, please fax a hard copy for verification.
- Try to compress files being emailed using Stuff-It or Zip. Stuffing files encodes them to travel safely across the PC network before reaching their destination.
- You can email your files directly to the following address:
